 Product engine

Coffee leads with R269 952. The top two categories in scope carry 66.7% of revenue.

 Peak selling window

09-12h produced R220 162 – the strongest time block in the current selection.

 Growth momentum

Revenue moved from R81 678 in Jan to R166 486 in Jun, a 103.8% change.

CEO takeaway: protect morning availability, grow high-value bundles, and use targeted offers to lift afternoon and evening demand.

PRODUCT MIX

02

Coffee and tea are the core revenue engines

Product-category sales show a highly concentrated revenue mix.

● 66.7% from two categories

Coffee (R269 952) and Tea (R196 406) dominate the mix.

● Bakery is the attach-sale lever

Bakery generated R82 316 and 23,214 units over the period, creating a natural beverage-bundle opportunity in the morning peak.

● High-value, low-volume lines

Coffee beans average R22.87 per transaction, well above the overall R4.69. Promote them as take-home add-ons at the till.

TOP PERFORMERS

03

Where to protect stock and menu visibility

The leading product types concentrate revenue – treat them as never-out-of-stock lines.

Action: set minimum stock thresholds for Barista Espresso, Chai and Hot Chocolate; feature top items prominently on menus.

TRADING HOURS

Late morning is the strongest trading period

More than half of revenue is earned before noon, making morning execution critical.

PEAK WINDOW

09-12h

R220 162 – 31.5% of sales in scope

● Morning concentration

55.6% of revenue in scope occurs between 06:00 and 12:00. Staffing and replenishment should be built around this window.

● Evening opportunity

18:00-21:00 contributes only 9.4%. Use small, measurable offers rather than broad discounting.

MOMENTUM

05

Revenue accelerated strongly after February

June revenue was more than double January revenue, with the strongest monthly jump in May.

Management question: identify which campaigns, menu changes or traffic drivers began in March-May and repeat the most effective ones.

NETWORK DIAGNOSTICS

Steady weekdays, balanced stores, uneven basket value

Average daily revenue avoids distortion from unequal numbers of weekdays in the period.

REVENUE BY DAY OF WEEK

Best day: Mon · Lowest day: Sun — the spread is small, so demand is stable rather than day-driven.

RECOMMENDATIONS

07

Actions to improve sales performance

Prioritised by likely revenue impact and ease of implementation.

#	ACTION	WHY / HOW	IMPACT	TIMING
1	Protect peak availability	Set demand-based par levels and replenish Coffee, Chai, Hot Chocolate and Bakery before 09:00.	High	Immediate
2	Build beverage + bakery bundles	Offer a modest bundle incentive during 06:00-12:00 and measure attach rate, margin and average transaction.	High	2-4 weeks
3	Lift afternoon / evening traffic	Run targeted 15:00-18:00 snack bundles and a limited 18:00-21:00 loyalty multiplier.	Medium	Pilot
4	Grow premium take-home sales	Place Coffee Beans, Loose Tea and Branded items near checkout with staff upsell prompts.	Medium	2-4 weeks
5	Replicate store best practice	Use Lower Manhattan's higher transaction value as a benchmark; compare mix, staffing and upsell execution.	Medium	30 days

EXECUTION

08

90-day execution and measurement roadmap

Turn the analysis into a repeatable sales-management rhythm.

01

WEEKS 1-2

Stabilise peak execution

Confirm product availability by time slot; introduce daily stock-out and waste tracking.

02

WEEKS 3-6

Run controlled pilots

Test beverage-bakery bundles and afternoon offers by store; retain control groups where possible.

03

WEEKS 7-12

Scale what works

Roll out profitable offers, replicate store best practice and automate weekly reporting.
